

She writes about the women who consume the men they love — and the men who let them.

Sanctum: Consumed

THE SANCTUM SERIES • BOOK ONE • WANTING • HAVING • KNOWING

Maia Vael does not fall in love. She collects — men, voices, small intimacies she is not supposed to keep. Then she finds Jett: a voice first, then the man beneath it. For the first time, her archive looks back. A novel about appetite, power, aftercare, and the particular violence of being seen by the person you thought you were only studying.

ABOUT THE AUTHOR

Kelani Noir writes dark contemporary romance for readers who want the weight of a love story without the apologies. Her debut, Sanctum: Consumed, opens the Sanctum Series, a planned trilogy, with Devoted in development. She publishes under a pen name, from a city that keeps its own hours.

AT A GLANCE

GENRE	Dark Contemporary Romance
LENGTH	67,071 words
SERIES	Sanctum · Bk 1 of 3
STATUS	Forthcoming · 2026

POSITIONING & COMPS

*“She spent two years collecting his voice.
Then he walked into her shop.”*

X MEETS Y

The obsessive pull of Haunting Adeline meets the literary heat of Sierra Simone’s Priest.

FOR READERS OF

H.D. Carlton and Sierra Simone — obsession and power, written in literary prose.

Contact hello@kelaninoir.com Web kelaninoir.com Stories kelaniwrites.com

Social @kelaninoir